VARNELL SAYS:

Cornell Visits Seattle
U. O.'s Material Good
Rowe, Emmons Sparkle

Anse Cornell, the very new but very efficient graduate manager at the University of Oregon dropped into Seattle yesterday and told me that Printk Callison will have an up-and-coming football team to represent the Lemon Yellow in the 1937 Pacific Coast Conference race.

"We did not win a conference game last fall, but we will win some next fall," said Cornell as he warmed up to his subject. "Printk has had a fine spring practice, has developed some great young players for varsity play and any conference coach who thinks he will push Oregon's team around next fall has another thing coming."

"We gave Washington a bad scare in Portland last October and played Stanford to a tie, but still we were not quite good enough to break into the win column. Things will be different this fall. Take my word for it."

Cornell said Oregon will have two great young fullbacks next fall in Paul Rowe, a 200 pounder, who has speed as well as weight, and Frank Emmons, a 205 pounder, who also is fleet of foot.

"Say, if we had had one real hard-hitting fullback last fall we would have won some games. This fall we will have two good plunkers. Printk has plenty of backs, good ones, too, and while he lost Bjork and Skinner from the line, he will have strength in his forward wall to clear the way for his ball carriers."

"I am not saying this will be a championship year for Oregon, but just don't let anyone get the idea we will be soft pickings, for that will not be the case."

Cornell, outside of waxing enthusiastic over Oregon's football prospects for fall, said he was in Seattle to contact alumni and confer with the graduate organization here. In his undergraduate days at Oregon, Cornell was a neater box quarter back of real ability. He's just as peppery today even though his quarterbacking days are over.

Ah! They'll Really Unmask the Shadow

The Portland, Or., boxing commission will unmask the Red Shadow, the wrestler who since last September has kept the mat fans of the Northwest guessing as to his identity.

There have been reports in the past that the Red Shadow would unmask—If beaten, but to date all the wrestling fans of Seattle, Portland and Vancouver really know of the Shadow's identity is nothing.

The Red Shadow was matched to meet Vincent Lopez in Portland Wednesday night, but before the boxing commission would sanction the match it called upon the Shadow's manager to post a check for $500 to guarantee his unmasking at the conclusion of the bout.

That means that Friday night when the Red Shadow wrestles in Seattle he will come into the ring wearing his mask and his flowing robe, but before he goes into action, he will remove his mask and Seattle mat followers will have a chance to see just who the man is who has been pecking at them without being needed at, for eight months of wrestling.

'Tut, Tut!' Said Tuttle to Shelly

Frank Shellenback, manager of the San Diego Padres, is telling one on himself around the Pacific Coast League circuit. An umpire had changed his original decision, after conferring with his partner, on a play on which he was partially cut off. Shelly did not like this, as the changed decision went against his club. He went out and kicked, then went to W. C. Tuttle, league president, with his lament.

"On what grounds do you intend to protest?" asked Tuttle.

"Because the umpire changed his decision," answered Shelly. "The rules say an umpire cannot change his decision."

"Now Frank," said the prexy, "if an umpire cannot change his decision why have you been kicking and trying to get umpires to change decisions for the past twenty years?"

Shelly had no answer to that one, so he decided not to protest and after the conference with the league boss he figured he had lost a decision which was good enough to tell, even to his rival managers.

WHY, MR. STEINBORN!

He Doesn't Approve of Vance

Frank Vance will not referee Friday night's Vicente Lopez-Henry Milo Steinborn rematch at the Ice Arena. He isn't wanted by Steinborn. Vern Harrington of Portland, who was satisfactory to both wrestlers, will hear the brunt of the fans' annoyance if he doesn't perform according to their ideas.

"It was either substitute referees or have no match," said Promoter Bob Murray today. "Steinborn wouldn't go in the ring with Vance."

This was understandable. Last Friday night, Steinborn was counted out by Vance as he bear-kicked Lopez from outside the ropes—although Lopez was the boy the crowd thought should have been counted out. The colossal Steinborn arms had rendered him hors de combat.

Vance's defense was logical. Wrestling, he said, was supposed to be done within the ropes. If you went outside the ropes, the count automatically began. If you stayed outside the ropes until the count of 20 was completed, you were no longer in competition. Your match was over.

"Steinborn actually was outside the ropes for nearly 30 seconds," said Vance. "Not that I was giving him a long count, either. I had to stop counting now and then to try and pry Steinborn off Lopez. Try that one some time, when you get mad at the referee."

There are four bouts on the Friday program, which starts at 8:30 p. m. Steinborn and Lopez are scheduled for eight 10-minute rounds. The Red Shadow (being ordered, as note Varnell column) to unmask) meets Herb Freeman in the five 10-minute round semi-windup.

Andy Moen of Fergus Falls, Minn., meets Don Clark, the quiet Scotchman he butted over the eye last Friday, in a one-fall, no time-limit bout. They stole the show in that one.

Rudy LaDitz (world's worst wrestler, he insists) meets Paul Boesch of Brooklyn in the three 6-minute round opener.

Ted Longworth Wins Sectional Pro Golf Honors

Waverley Man CARDS PAR FOR DOUBLE ROUND

By WILLIAM F. STEEDMAN

Ted Longworth, the boyish-looking veteran from the Waverley Country Club of Portland, today won the championship crown of the Pacific Northwest section of the Professional Golfers' Association. He earned it yesterday when he played thirty-six holes around the Fircrest course, Tacoma, in 142—even par for the route—to nose out the defending champion, Charley Congdon of Tacoma, and Al Zimmerman, a fellow-Portland, by a single shot in the annual tournament.

Longworth's was a worthy performance, indeed. Fircrest's par isn't the easiest to equal under any conditions. Yesterday a brisk southwest wind was whipping squarely across the fairways to make control of direction difficult and the greens, while good for this time of year, were deceptive with springtime unevenness of texture.

Longworth and Al Zimmerman were tied for the lead in the morning with 70s, one under par, being followed by Congdon, who carded a 71. In the afternoon the Waverley man shot even fours to Zimmerman's 73 to go a stroke in front.

Congdon, meanwhile, rallied from his morning 74 to a 69, best eighteen holes of the day, to tie Zimmerman for second place.

Richards went to places on the greens, amassing an 84, thirteen strokes higher than his morning effort, and disappeared from contention.

Longworth's victory qualified him for one of this section's two berths in the national professional tournament, to be held at Pittsburgh, Pa., May 24 to 30.

The other spot went to Neil Christian of Yakima, who defeated Verne Torfin of Tacoma, in a nine-hole playoff, 36 to 41, after they had tied at 153 for the thirty-six holes. Those two and Longworth were the only entrants seeking national tournament places.

Complete scores for the day's play:

Ted Longworth, Waverley, Portland, 70-72-142.
Charley Congdon, Tacoma, 74-69-143.

Leading Pros Safe

In Qualifying Fold

NEW YORK, Tuesday, May 4.—On the basis of scattered returns from the sectional qualifying tests, the pros who were up on last year won't have much trouble repeating in the national Professional Golfers' Association championship at Pittsburgh May 24-30.

With today set as the final for the state qualifying rounds, the stars and "unknowns" were firing on all sides yesterday, but most of them wound up with ordinary scores. All members of the 1936 U. S. Cup team and quarter finalists in the 1936 P. G. A. tourney are exempt.

Among the "headliners" who took part were Billy Burke, former National Open champion, who turned in the day's best single round, 67, at Springfield, Ohio; Tommy Armour, former P. G. A. champion, who topped the Chicago district qualifiers with 143; Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., sensation of the winter tournaments, and Ralph Guldahl and Harry Cooper, who ran 1-2 in the low scoring race for the 1936 Radix Cup award.

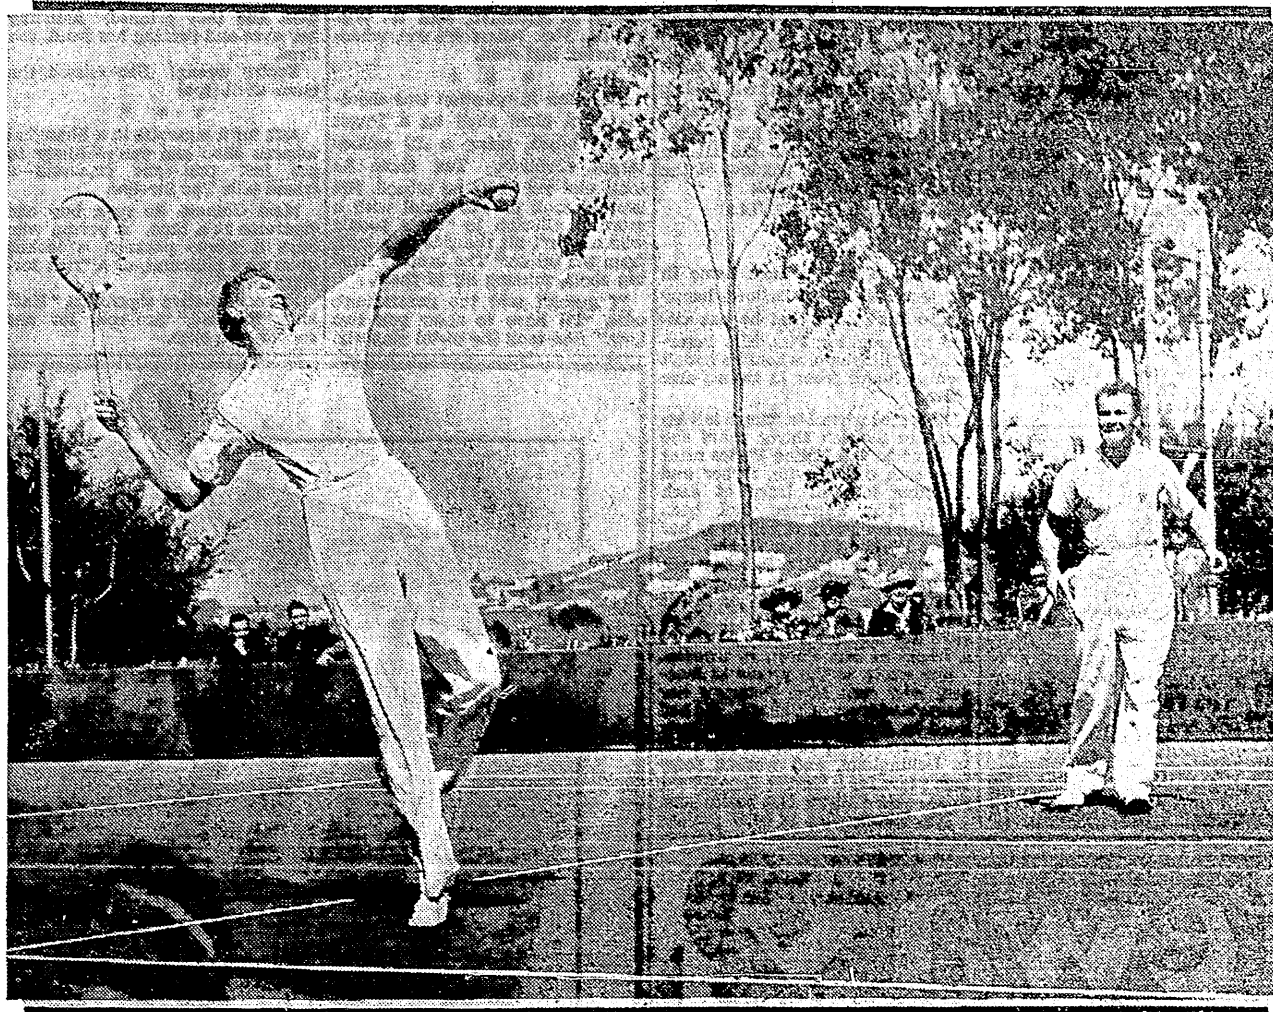

Shooting over a course made heavy by rain, Guldahl shot 146 and Cooper 150, to trail Armour at Chicago. Snead led the Pittsburgh district qualifiers with 149. Best thirty-six-hole scores reported were 140's by Al Sargent of Toledo, who topped Burke by two strokes at Springfield, and Bruce Coltart, who beat out such stars as Ed Dudley, Clarence Doster, Byron Nelson and Leo Diegel in the Philadelphia district test at Riverton, N. J.

JUST BEFORE THE EXPLOSION

America's Davis Cup doubles team had little trouble disposing of Jiro Yamagishi and Fumitaru Nakano of Japan, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4, in their recent zone playoff in San Francisco. Here they are, Don Budge and Gene Mako, in action. Budge is in the foreground, all set to blast a high one back across the net. Pounding the mystery out of the deliveries of three University of Washington Huskies yesterday, the Vandal tossers were routed 12 to 3 victory over the Vandals in a northern division baseball battle on the varsity field.

While the bats of the Huskies were ringing with bingles—they gathered seventeen blows during the fracas—Chet Johnson had the Vandals completely baffled and allowed but four hits in the six frames he officiated on the mound. And just to have a big day, Johnson connected for three blows himself.

Off to a running start with three runs in the first frame, one in the second and two in the third, Washington was on Easy Street almost from the start.

The Huskies had a big inning, the seventh, with a rain of hits that drove Hansen, Idaho relief chucker, to the showers, netting six runs. The final game of the Idaho-Washington series is on today.

Cougars Take Easy

Win Over Beavers

CORVALLIS, Or., Tuesday, May 4.—Tallying all their scores in the first six innings and allowing none until the eighth, Washington State Cougars defeated Oregon State 16 to 6 in a Northern Division conference baseball game here yesterday.

Big Otto Houdek, who started on the mound for the Beavers, lasted only a third of the first nine, giving way to Kalibak who lasted until the third when Fred Cramer temporarily checked the invading batsmen.

Forest Carter, Cougar pitcher, seemed headed for a shut-out victory until he filled the bases in the eighth with two walks and a hit batter, and Meyers' grounder scored two. Chatterton made first, filling the bases again and Douley's double scored three more. The Beavers scored another in the ninth and whiffed two men and tossed another out at first.

George Nethcutt of the Cougars drove in five runs with two homers and a single in his first three chances at the plate.

Score:
R. H. E.
W. S. C..... 16 19 2
O. S. C..... 6 8 8
Batteries—Carter and Eastman; Houdek, Kalibak, Cramer and Orell.

Shelby Hagen Gets Ace at Sand Point

NET CUPMEN NAMED

Joe Hunt Added to Davis List

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Tuesday, May 4.—Chairman Walter L. Pate of the United States Lawn Tennis Association Davis Cup committee today ordered five members of America's Davis Cup team to report at Forest Hills for practice by Monday.

The first squad will consist of Donald Budge, Gene Mako and Joseph Hunt of Los Angeles, Bryan Franky of Atlanta and Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N. J.

Karl Kozeluh and George Lott, professionals, have been engaged to instruct the American team before it meets Australia in the North American zone finals at Forest Hills May 29, 30 and 31.

McGrath Ordered

To Hospital Bed

MEXICO CITY, Tuesday, May 4.—A severe attack of laryngitis kept Vivian McGrath from leaving for New York with the other members of the Australian Davis Cup team, which drove in 5-0, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Clifford Sproule, nonplaying captain of the team, decided at the last moment to send McGrath to the English Hospital here rather than risk losing his services for the American zone finals at Forest Hills, N. Y., May 29-31.

Sproule remained here with the Australian champion. They hope to leave tonight to join Jack Crawford, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich at San Antonio, Tex., where the team is to play exhibition matches today or tomorrow.

If the star's throat forces him to stay over another day, the team probably will reassemble in New York.

Bruins Beat Troy;

Bears Take Title

LOS ANGELES, Tuesday, May 4.—Curtis Counts, University of California at Los Angeles baseball captain and first baseman, drove a home run over the Wrigley Field fence yesterday with a whack that echoed clear up to Berkeley.

This homer, which drove in two other runs, did three things: It gave the Bruins a 7-to-5 victory over Southern California. It broke the Trojans, eight-game winning streak in the city series. The Bruins hadn't beaten them since 1934.

It gave the University of California the conference baseball title, in which the Trojans otherwise would have had a half interest.

N. W. SWIM MEET

DUE THIS WEEK

Seattle sports fans will have the opportunity of seeing the best amateur swimmers in the Northwest when the Northwest invitational swimming championships are held at the Washington Athletic Club next Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8.

The events will be held in two classes—junior and senior—with men and women competing in their own specialties. The meet will be open to the general public.

For the first time in the history of amateur swimming in this part of the country, the four outstanding swimming associations have combined to make the coming tourney a really championship event. The four associations are: The Oregon Swim Association, Pacific Northwest Association, Inland Empire Association and the Canadian Swim Association of British Columbia.

Approximately 150 entries have been received for both divisions and for the men's and women's events. The entries have come from Vancouver and Victoria, Portland, Salem, Corvallis, Or., Longview, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and Everett. The entries close Tuesday and more are expected to send in their names before the zero hour.

The senior championships will be decided Friday afternoon and evening—with the final events being staged Friday evening. The junior preliminaries will be held Saturday morning with the final events being held that afternoon.

The Washington Athletic Club is favored to retain its team championship with the Crystal Pool squad a strong second.

Chief interest is centered in the W. A. C. women's national championship, a 100-yard relay team. These two teams will be making their first appearance since they stole the show at the women's championship held recently in Chicago. The members of these teams are Edith Pemberton, Jean Kolinski, Doris Buckley and Betty Lea.

Milling Beats Marquart

CHICAGO, Tuesday, May 4.—(AP)—Varian Milling, Filipino featherweight, punched out a 10-round decision victory over Billy Marquart of Winnipeg, Man., last night to snap the Canadian youngster's Chicago victory string at thirteen straight.

ARMSTRONG TO BOX

California will see several good battles this week.

Henry Armstrong, Negro claimant of the featherweight championship, boxes tonight in Los Angeles, against Frankie Klick, San Francisco's veteran lightweight.

Friday night will see Abie Miller against Billy Barnes, Los Angeles welterweight, in the Hollywood Bowl, and Alberto Lovell, the Argentine Negro heavyweight, against hard-hitting Hank Hankinson in San Diego.

Dundee Drops

Ten-Round Go

To Billy Conn

PITTSBURGH, Tuesday, May 4.—(AP)—Billy Conn, 161, Pittsburgh middleweight, jolted last night the comeback hopes of Vince Dundee, 157½, of Newark, N. J., by winning the ten-round bout of a boxing card.

Dundee, former middleweight champion of the world, fought gamely and skillfully, but his experience was not quite enough to overcome the faster and harder punches of the up and coming Conn. Conn won a unanimous decision.

TRAINING WORK RESUMES; COACH GIVES PEP TALK

By GEORGE M. VARNELL

Defending three national championship rowing titles on the Hudson River in June will be a much harder task for Washington's three racing crews than was the winning of the crowns last year.

But Washington has an excellent chance to carry off a successful defense of all three titles and thereby a chance to sweep the river again if every man on the Washington squad will buckle down and give all he has to give to that end.

That was the message Coach Al Ulbricksen gave yesterday to the U. of W. oarsmen as the varsity and freshman squads returned to training work to begin the training campaign for the Poughkeepsie regatta. It was the first turnout of the oarsmen since the victorious regatta against California's three crews held April 17 on the Oakland Estuary.

"I feel certain that we have the opportunity to repeat on the Hudson if every man on the squad will give his best in every training workout between now and the big regatta," said Ulbricksen as he addressed his squad in the shellhouse before yesterday's turnout.

"However, we cannot accomplish that great ambition of our campaign unless every man tunes himself mentally and physically to the objective ahead and drives toward that end."

"We can win on the Hudson, but whether we do or do not is definitely up to you men. We have the power to do the job right; so it is for you men to decide by your efforts whether we succeed or not."

Ulbricksen then explained to his squad that there would be no sentiment in the campaign to put the three fastest crews the Husky squad affords on the Hudson River.

Past performances will be worth just nothing in weighing and measuring material for seats in the shells. Performance alone will count. Eight men and a coxswain in each shell, thinking as one man, rowing as one man and fighting as one man, will be Ulbricksen's ambition as he builds his crews for Poughkeepsie.

"Every crew in varsity, junior varsity and freshman divisions will be out to trim Washington this year at Poughkeepsie and we must have faster, better crews than we had last year if we are to fight off these threats and challenges," said Ulbricksen.

"Get the picture if you can, and then decide what you want to do. We have oarsmen on the squad who want to work and want to win. If we have any that do not want to work and are indifferent to the opportunity that is ours, we will see to it that they do not get into the shells. There is no place for them in our plans."

Two oarsmen, one from the varsity and one the Jayvee, as they rowed against California, were missing yesterday. Johnny York, No. 2 man of the Jayvee, was delayed in reporting, but will be on deck before the end of the week. Charles Day, No. 2 man of the varsity, also was absent.

Day announced in California before the April 17 regatta that he would withdraw from the squad to give his full time to class work. Ulbricksen is not expecting him to report.

When the crews were out yesterday Hugh Caldwell was at No. 2 in the varsity and Paul Hauser at the No. 2 spot in the Jayvee. The crews took a three-mile pull at 24. As speedily as the men can be conditioned the tempo of the training campaign will be increased.
