EWC Savages Beat Washington State

CHENEY (P)—Eastern Washington college's Savages scored a mild upset here Monday beating Washington State college 8 to 6 in a non-conference baseball game.

Four Cougar pitchers gave up nine hits while Eastern's chucker, Dale Thomason, was touched for 10.

The Savages salted the game away in the sixth inning, which saw three Washington State hurlers hit the bench. Their five runs in that inning came on three hits, two walks and an error.

The Cougars threatened in the ninth, but an EWC double play ended the uprising and the game.

Durocher Gets Perfect Grade In Department

ST. LOUIS (P)—"Lippy" Leo Durocher got a perfect grade in department Monday, as to the disappointment of baseball fans who had expected to see a renewal of his feud with umpire Lon Warneke.

Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, was fined $100 by National league president Ford Frick for "vile and abusive" language used in a game with the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

The usually talkative Leo didn't have anything to say about all of this Monday. Through vice president Charles Feeney, however, the Giants immediately asked for a New York hearing before Frick.

Frick said he would oblige. Durocher had several good opportunities to gripe in Monday's contest, which his club lost, 5-2. But he did not make an appearance on the playing field.

"Where's Lippy" went up as the Giants booted two plays for errors. Another time, five New Yorkers crashed at the pitcher's mound while chasing a pop fly, which finally was caught.

But Leo remained aloof. Warneke, who drew Durocher's wrath in a play at second Friday, was behind the plate in Monday's contest. He called one close one but it was in favor of New York.

The umpire, who was Durocher's teammate with the Cardinals in 1937, told newsmen that he missed the play which touched off the verbal fireworks Sunday.

Asked later what he thought about Leo's fine and the New York request for a hearing, Warneke said, "I haven't heard anything about it and I have nothing more to say on the subject."

Both Warneke and Durocher denied reports that blows were struck in an argument under the stands after Sunday's game, which the Giants also lost.

The rhubarb started in the eighth inning when the Giants' Whitey Lockman was ruled safe at second on a double steal. Red Schoendienst, Redbird second baseman, flew into a rage at the decision.

There was some pushing and Durocher, with expansive gestures, allowed as how Red should be evicted from the game. He wasn't. New York's Eddie Stankov had been banished earlier for arguing with umpire Dusty Hoggess.

In a single year, there are never more than five eclipses of the sun, both partial and total.

Not Bigger or Tougher, but Western Crews Stay on Top

PRINCETON, N. J. (P)—Why are crews of the Far West better than those of the East, where the first college rowing races in America were held 100 years ago?

It's not that boys out there grow bigger and stronger, says veteran coach Tom Bolles of Harvard. It makes no difference that they are more crew-minded and have longer periods of work.

"It's all a matter of incentive—all in the mind," declared the lean, bespectacled Crimson instructor, who himself pulled a mighty oar for Washington back in the roaring 1920's.

Bolles, who is moving up as athletic director at Harvard, had just seen his last varsity crew lose a half-length decision to Yale Saturday in the Eastern sprint championships on Lake Carnegie.

He was watching his fellow coaches contemplate the future gloomily—the national regatta at Marietta, Ohio, June 18 and the Olympic trials next spring.

The East has won only two national regattas in the last 20 years, both of them by Navy (1938-1947). The East hasn't had an Olympic representative since 1924 when Yale rowed for the red, white and blue. During that period two stout eight-oar boats—Washington and California—have dominated the American college rowing scene. Washington is defending champion in all three events at Marietta.

COMEBACK—Lefty Joe Page, once the mightiest relief pitcher in baseball, boards a plane at New York's La Guardia field bound for Kansas City, Mo., where he will join the Yankee KC farm club to see if he can regain the magic touch he had in 1949.

TACOMA (P)—San Diego of the Pacific Coast league swept the Western International farm team, the Tacoma Tigers, 10-2 in an exhibition baseball game here Monday night.

The two teams battled through five scoreless innings before the Padres started their scoring. They made two in the sixth, five in the seventh, another in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Jack Graham and Joe Rowell poled homers over the rightfield wall. Graham had the best evening with a homer, triple and a single in five trips.

OREGON FROSH WIN

EUGENE (P)—The Oregon frosh won a three-way all-freshman track meet here Monday by amassing a total of 68 1/2 points. That was 19 points more than second place Washington State. Idaho trailed with 44 1/2.

Delishus Wins League Opener Over Birds Eye

Delishus rang the bell for the first victory in City league softball with a 4-3 win Monday evening over Birds Eye at the Vets Memorial diamond.

Winning pitcher Vaughn Nixon gave up two hits, singles in the third and sixth to Kennedy and Decker, and weathered control trouble to win the league's opening game.

Delishus picked up three runs in the third on singles by Gene Frank and Bill Zier with an error, a fielder's choice and a walk sandwiched in between. Zier, the game's hitting star with two for three, singled in the winning tally in the fifth following a hit batter and a single by Fouts.

Birds Eye picked up singletons in the second, third and fifth innings, all unearned.

Russell 4th In PGA Meet

SPOKANE (P)—Harold West of Portland and Dave Killen of Olympia swung hot clubs Monday and earned the right to represent the Northwest in the Professional Golfers' association national tourney at Pittsburgh.

Killen turned in the top total score in the PGA sectional qualifying tournament here, posting a four-under par in the morning and following with a 72 in the afternoon stint for 140. West carded 66 and 75 for a total of 141 on the 36-hole run.

The top two finishers were to get the Northwest's spots in the national event June 23 through July 3. But according to reports after the matches, West will not go to Pittsburgh. In that event, Chuck Dillon of Tacoma, who got 74 and 73 for a 147 aggregate and third place, will replace him.

Jim Russell of Walla Walla was tied for fourth spot with Bob McKendrick of Portland, each carding 148. Russell had 73 and 75 rounds, McKendrick two 74s.

Caps Massacre Victoria 17-0

VANCOUVER, B. C. (CP)—Vancouver's Capilano swept their four-game Western International league series with the Victoria Athletics by plastering the A's 17-0 Monday night. This followed a 22-7 shelling Saturday night.

Bob Snyder gave up seven hits to post his eighth straight victory of the season against no defeats.

The Caps started off with five runs in the first inning. Their attack bogged down somewhat in the second when they scored only three but they made up for it with six more in the third. Jim Hedgecock, Victoria's starting pitcher, was mercifully taken out in the fourth after giving up 14 earned runs.

Second baseman Reno Cheso had the fattest night at the plate, hitting five for five and driving in six runs.

Victoria loaded the bases in the fifth inning with two out but the last man up dribbled weakly down to third for an easy out.

Hope's Gags, Several Close Shaves, One Upset Provide Americana in British Open

PORTRCAWL, Wales (P)—Bob Hope clowned his way through his one-day stand in the British amateur golf championship Monday, then got out of the way for one full-fledged American upset and several close shaves.

The comedian was the drawing card for about 4,000 people gathered on the isolated seaside Porthcawl course in warm sunshine. But after he lost 2 and 1 to Chris Fox, of Hull, Eng., the crowd stuck around for the real surprises.

They saw young Hobart Manley, of Savannah, Ga., the North and South champion, and one of the highly touted dark hopes of the tournament, bow to an American unknown, Harold Kirkpatrick, of Owensboro, Ky., two up.

They saw defending champion Frank Stranahan finally win a 17-hole uphill struggle, 2 and 1, against Ian Keelan, a small, blond British army major just back from building roads in East Africa.

And they saw Bob Knowles of Boston and Harold Paddock of Cleveland, both Walker cup players, carried to the 18th and 19th holes before winning.

In another surprising match, 20-year-old Peter Wilson, of Scarborough, Eng., beat Frank Strafaci, of Garden City, N.Y., the former New York Metropolitan champion, 3 and 2.

In all, the American challenge of 29 at the start of the day was cut by a third. Many of the nine who lost weren't too much surprised, and one of these was Hope.

"I heard the British amateur needs a little comic relief after Bing Crosby's appearance last year," Hope told the crowd at the first tee. "Well, here I am."

Five minutes later his first drive sizzled through the gorse—the British equivalent of sagebrush—and died about 90 yards from the tee.

"My usual drive," Bob said with a wince.

Hope halved the first hole in a par four. But after Fox, a tall true-to-type Englishman, complete with pipe, black rimmed glasses, and golf knickers, sent his approach spinning to within a yard of the pin, Hope announced:

"One more shot like that and I'll call a cab."

Bob threw away gags and shots at about the same pace and while the crowd got a big bang out of the banter, there were murmurs of disapproval from the golfing diehards at the back of the gallery.

Hope's golf improved on the way back, particularly when he chipped in from 45 feet on the 15th and followed this with an excellent eight-foot putt at the 16th to keep the match going.

But he was back in the rough and then in a trap on the 17th and gracefully conceded the hole and the match.

Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., scored the biggest American victory. He turned back Britain's Peter Rabagliati, 7 and 6.

Willie Turnesa and Dick Chapman, also had it easy. Turnesa defeated W. T. Osmand, of New Zealand, 6 and 4, while Chapman, making his fifth assault on this title he has never won, finished 5. Craig Russell of England, 6 and 5.

The three other American Walker cup players—Charlie Coe, Sam Urzetta and Jimmy McHale, had byes Monday.

OKLAHOMA WINS CROWN

NORMAN, Okla. (P)—The University of Oklahoma Sooners won the Big Seven conference baseball championship Monday, defeating Kansas, 4-1.
