Contest governed by rules published in The Times, September 13-14, 1970

Guess again—never mind those upsets

Maybe things will shape up this week, with the nation's football teams returning to form.

Do not be distressed by the previous upsets. Enter the fourth week of The Times' Guest Guesser contest and aim at a $1 million.

The Times will award $1,000 for a perfect, 20-right entry in any of the qualifying weeks. If more than one contestant has a 20-right score, the final score, and scoring by quarters if needed, of the week's feature game will be used to break the tie.

The feature in the fourth week of football forecasting is the Pacific-8 Conference meeting between the Huskies and California's Golden Bears in the University of Washington Stadium Saturday.

Remember, the best and second-best scores will qualify for the final, whether they are perfect or not. The Grand Champion will receive an expenses-paid trip, for two, to the Rose Bowl game or Super Bowl contest. The winner will take his choice.

Mail entries to Guest Guesser Editor, The Seattle Times, Postoffice Box 1138, Seattle 98111. Or deliver your entries to The Times, Fairview Avenue North and John Street.

If you deliver your entry, the deadline is 6 p.m. Thursday. Mailed entries must be postmarked by midnight Thursday and received in The Times by midnight Friday. Entries received after that time, regardless of postmark, will be ineligible.

Browns' Nelsen may play against Cincinnati
CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Browns said yesterday that their quarterback, Bill Nelsen, was being listed as the possible starter for Sunday's game against the Cincinnati Bengals.
Nelsen suffered a knee injury against the San Francisco 49ers September 27. Two rookies, Don Gault and Mike Phipps, took over the quarterback duties in last Saturday's 15-7 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Penn St. collapse puzzling

Associated Press
Ohio State is No. 1 and Texas is No. 2, so what's new?

What's new is Penn State, which is nowhere at the moment.
"We're just not a very good football team right now," says Coach Joe Paterno, whose Nittany Lions dropped out of the Associated Press rankings—and out of sight—after losing their second straight game last week.

PENN STATE'S 29-16 defeat by Wisconsin came a week after its 41-13 humiliation by Colorado and shattered a myth of invincibility built on 31 games without a loss.

What happened?
"We have a lot of problems," Paterno said last night, but didn't care to discuss them. "We have a lot of things to work out. We have to get reorganized. My kids are not happy about the losses—but we'll find out what they're made of from now on in."

Penn State dipped from No. 4 in the nation to No. 16 after the Colorado belting. Now they aren't even listed in honorable mention after the sandbagging by Wisconsin.

THE BUCKEYES widened their lead over the Longhorns after shellacking Duke, 34-10. Ohio State received 27 of 38 first place votes from sports writers and broadcasters around the country for 713 points to 610 for Texas, an uneasy 20-17 conqueror of U. C. L. A.

Stanford plunged from third to 12th after dropping a 26-14 game to Purdue, enabling Notre Dame and Southern California to jump one place each to third and fourth, respectively. Notre Dame ambushed Michigan State, 29-0, and Southern Cal walloped Oregon State, 45-13.

Mississippi slammed Alabama, 48-23, and went from seventh to fifth; Nebraska stayed No. 6 after beating Minnesota, 35-10; Michigan went two places to seventh by defeating Texas A. & M., 14-10, and Air Force climbed two spots to No. 8 after bombing Colorado State, 37-22.

Auburn smashed Kentucky, 33-15, and climbed from 12th to No. 9, and Arkansas climbed from 11th to 10th after taking Texas Christian, 49-14.

PENN STATE may be in for its first losing season in 31 years — and that worries Paterno more than the rankings.

"I've never been concerned with the rankings," he says. "I think they're bad for football. They create interest. I know, but it's not right for teams to run up scores for the rankings. You should play to win in football, not to embarrass the opposition."

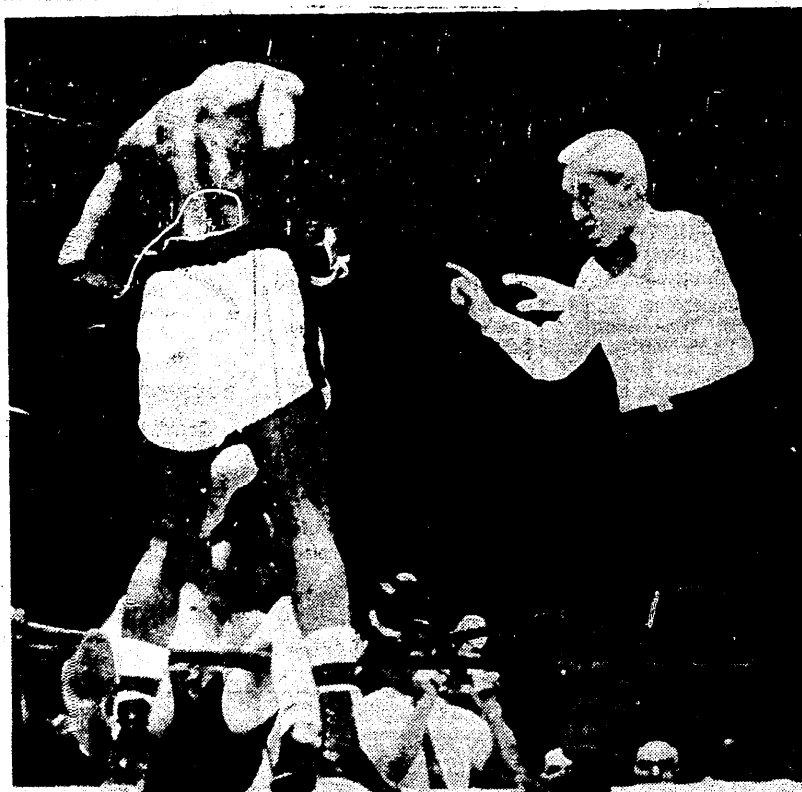

For the first seven rounds of Napoles' 10-round nontitle fight with Pete Toro of New York, the band provided the most excitement.
But then in the eighth Napoles, the world welterweight champ, dropped Toro, who took a mandatory eight count. He added a cut at the lower outside corner of Toro's left eye to the one he had opened earlier at the lower inside corner of the right eye.

Then in the ninth, Napoles sent Toro through the ropes with a left and right. Toro was back in the ring at three and took another eight count.

Napoles followed with a flurry of head blows and Toro turned away, claiming he couldn't see. The referee, Jimmy Devlin, stopped it at 2:32.

Asked why he didn't open up earlier, Napoles, who weighed 150 pounds, one less than Toro and three over the welterweight limit, said:

"I was worried first about getting butted by his head. Then he was running so much I couldn't set him up. I was trying to make a fight of

It was Mexicans' night in Garden

NEW YORK — (AP) — Any way you look at it, it was Mexican night in Madison Square Garden. A Mariachi band provided the noise after each round of each fight, Jose Napoles provided the championship class and the power, and little Ricardo Delgado helped provide the major thrills.

In the semifinal, Delgado, who won the flyweight boxing championship for Mexico in the 1968 Olympics, outpointed David Vasquez of New York in 10 lively rounds in the first flyweight bout in the Garden in 43 years.

The two little men, who looked jockeys when they entered the ring but looked like real fighters from the moment the first bell sounded, kept the crowd of 8,039, which paid $45,456, in a constant uproar.

The Garden announced that Vasquez and Delgado, who each weighed the flyweight limit of 112, probably would be rematched for the Felt Forum in November.

For the first seven rounds of Napoles' 10-round nontitle fight with Pete Toro of New York, the band provided the most excitement.

it. But I got my first good chance at him in the eighth and let him have it."

It was the 59th victory, 42 by knockouts, against four losses for Napoles, the Cuban-born Mexican citizen who won the title by knocking out Curtis Cokes in 1969 and has successfully defended it three times.

Cuco Conde, Napoles' manager, said he expects a call from Jack Solomon, British promoter, about a title defense November 28 in Madrid against Pedro Carasca of Spain.

Quarry, trainer again set down by California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — (AP) — Jerry Quarry, heavyweight boxing contender of Bellflower, Calif., and his trainer, Teddy Benham, have been suspended again by the California Athletic Commission.

The suspension, announced yesterday, was for failure to pay fines assessed as the result of a Quarry fight in New York in which he knocked out Mac Foster of Fresno, Calif.

Quarry's next fight is slated October 26 in Atlanta against Muhammad Ali (Cassius Clay).

Originally, the Olympic Auditorium promotion group in Los Angeles had charged a contract had been signed for the Quarry-Foster fight to be held in Los Angeles.

During the controversy over the Los Angeles-New York site disagreement, both Quarry and Foster temporarily were suspended.

After a hearing, both fighters were reinstated but fined because they fought while still under the temporary suspension. Foster and his manager paid their assessments, but Quarry has not paid his $1,000 fine nor has Benham paid his $100 levy, the commission said.

Bob Turley, executive secretary of the commission, said the fighter and his manager can be reinstated by paying the fines or they can ask for a hearing on them.

Borgerson fired as Notre Dame driver

By DEL DANIELSON
Leif Borgerson, who drove the Notre Dame to second place in unlimited-hydroplane national standings this past season, has been fired.

Borgerson, 25, was released from his duties by Shirley Mendelson-McDonald, Detroit-based owner of the Notre Dame. No reason was given.

"I want to continue driving," Borgerson said yesterday. "Boat racing is my life. I want to stay with it. Driving and engine rebuilding are the two things I know I am good at and can earn a living doing."

"I'm not happy about being released, but it's happened to a lot of drivers. I'm not mad, just available."

Borgerson was a member of the Notre Dame crew before taking over the driving chores from Jack Regas in the middle of the 1968 season.

Last year, Borgerson finished the season with the Notre Dame in fourth place in national points. He was named rookie of the year.

This year he ended up second to the Miss Budweiser, only 404 points behind the national champ.

Borgerson was the fifth driver to drive a Notre Dame boat since Mrs. McDonald started racing in 1962. Others were Col. Warner Gardner, Bill Muncey, Rex Manchester and Regas.

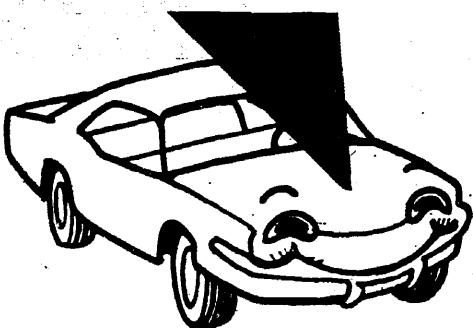

Borgerson's immediate plans are indefinite, but he intends to drive in the outboard world championships at Lake Havasu, Ariz., in November. He will share driving chores with John Adair, Seattle, in Adair's tunnel-hull Popcorn.
