It is expected sixty-four range the preliminary details. It is expected sixty-four entries can readily be secured at $50 each. The Union Park management has in the past added an amount equal to the entry fees. At one time it was proposed to charge an entry of $100, giving the stake a total value of nearly $13,000. Adverse industrial conditions developed which necessitated the abandoning of the project.

The date of the futurity was officially fixed for Saturday and Sunday of next week. A committee of five will end to the details which will develop regarding the ap-back to fill the vacancy at fullback. His light weight is against him, however, in this position.

For the position of right half, left vacant by Womble, "Locomotive" Smith, the tried veteran of three seasons, looms up as a strong possibility. After a year's absence from the university, Smith has returned to graduate and has not definitely announced whether or not he will don the moleskin this year on account of the demands of his studies.

With Hudson at quarter to fill the place which More held last year, the line would be left with three vacancies, both ends and the right tackle. For the latter position there are two substitute guards who showed up well last season—Stroud, who got in Overall's place in the big game, and Hendricks. The ends are practically open.

The material which enters with the freshman class can only be determined after the grilling process which is undergone in the formation of the freshman eleven. D. F. Barry of the Boston School of Technology comes with a good record made on his class team in that institution. Charles Volz and Frank Solinsky of Berkeley High School had reputations for gritty playing on their team. From Belmont school there comes Claude Gillis. Lindsey and Williams are two heavy men who come from San Diego.

Besides the coaching of Whipple and Womble, the varsity will receive instruction at the hands of many old graduate players. Dr. Simpson, coach of last year's team; Percy Hall, captain in '98; Fred Athearn, and "Pete" Kaarsburg, on the same team, have all promised to come back during the training season.

The only objection to this plan seems to be the necessity of obtaining the consent of the Supervisors to the closing of a street near the proposed site. In regard to football material for the coming season it is almost too early to make any definite predictions. Captainelect Billy Traeger, Raitt, Cooper and Hill will not return to the university, so a provisional line-up of the team may be made something as follows: Center, Captain Lee; guards, Hauverman and Barnhisel; tackles, McFadden and Roosevelt; ends, Preston and Clark; quarterback, Bansbach; fullback, McGilvray. The positions of halfbacks are sure to be closely contested, as there are a lot of fast, heady men in the field. It is a republic with which our own great republic must ever be closely knit great republic must ever be closely knit by the ties of common interests and common aspirations. Cuba must always be peculiarly related to us in international politics. She must in international affairs be to a degree a part of our political system. In return she must have peculiar relations with us economically. She must be, in a sense, part of our economic system. We expect her to accept a political attitude toward us which we think wisest both for her and us. In return we must be prepared to put her in an economic position as regards our tariff system, which will give her some measure of the prosperity which we enjoy. We cannot, in my judgment, avoid taking this attitude if we are to persevere in the course which we have outlined for ourselves as a nation during the past four years; and therefore I believe that it is only a matter of a very short time—before we enter into reciprocal trade relations with Cuba. by the ties of common interests and com-

"THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

"The isthmian canal represents what is probably to be the greatest engineering feat—the greatest feat of the kind—of the twentieth century. Before we start upon the construction of the canal certain questions of detail and of our relations with the people owning the soil have to be settled. When this has been done the first question will come upon choosing the commission which is to supervise the building of the canal. Here again we have to deal with an enterprise so vast and so far-reaching in its effects that but one thought is permissible—how to get the very best men in the nation, the men of the highest engineering and business and administrative skill, who will consent to undertake the work. If possible I should like to see these men represent different sections and different political parties.

But these questions are secondary. The art

But these questions are secondary. The primary aim must be to get men who, though able to control much greater salaries than the nation is able to pay, nevertheless possess the patriotism and the healthy ambition which will make them willing to put their talents at the Government's service.

WORK IN PHILIPPINES.

WORK IN PHILIPPINES.

So much for what has been done in the Occident. In the Orient the labor was more difficult. It is rare indeed that a great work, a work supremely worth doing, can be done save at the cost not only of labor and toll, but of much puzzling worry during the time of the performance. Normally the nation that achieves greatness, can do so only at the cost of anxiety and bewilderment and heart-wearing effort. Timid people, people scant of faith and hope, and good people who are not accustomed to the roughness of the life of effort—are almost sure to be disheartened and dismayed by the work and the worry, and overnuch cast down by the shortcomings, actual or seeming, which in real life always accompany the first stages even of what eventually turn out to be the most brilliant victories.

All this is true of what has happened during the last four years in the Philippine Islands.

a formidable task, but think of the marvelously successful way in which it has been accomplished.

The first and vitally important feat was the establishment of the supremacy of the American flag, and this had to be done by the efforts of those gallant fellow Americans of ours to whom so great a debt is due—the officers and enlisted men of the United States army, regulars and volunteers alike. In a succession of campaigns, carried on in unknown tropic jungles, against an elusive and treacherous foe vastly outnumbering them, under the most adverse conditions of climate, weather and country, our troops completely broke the power of the insurgents, smashed their armies and harried the broken robber bands into submission. In its latter stages the war against our rule sank into mere brigandage, and what our troops had to do was to hunt down the parties of ladrones. It was not a task which it was humanely possible to accomplish in a month or a year, but month by month, year by year, with unwearied and patient resolution, our army in the Philippines did the task which it found ready to hand until the last vestige of organized insurrection was stamped out. I do not refer to the Moros, with whom we have exercised the utmost forbearance, but who may force us to chastise them if they persist in attacking our troops. Among the Filipinos proper, however, peace has come. Doubtless here and there sporadic outbreaks of brigandage will occur from time to time, but organized warfare against the American flag has ceased and there is no reason to apprehend its recurrence. Our army in the islands has been reduced until it is not a fourth of what it was at the time the outbreak was at its height.

Success is wondered and there is no reason to apprehend its recurrence. Our army in the islands has been reduced until it is not a fourth of what it was at the time the outbreak was at its height.

SUCCESS IS WONDERFUL.

SUCCESS IS WONDERFUL.

Step by step as our army conquered, the rule of the military was supplanted by the rule of the civil authorities—the soldier was succeeded by the civilian magistrates. The best type of Americans for the high civil positions and the actual work of administration has been done so far as possible by native Filipino officials serving under these Americans. The success of the effort has been wonderful. Never has this country had a more upright or an abler body of public representatives than Governor Taft. Vice Governor Wright and their associates and subordinates in the Philippines. It is a very difficult matter practically to apply the principles of an orderly free government to an Oriental people struggiling upward out of barbarism and subjection. It is a task requiring infinite firmness, patience, tact, broad-mindedness. All these

to the root of things—was to leave the islands. Had we done this, a period of wild chaos would have supervened and then some stronger power would have stepped in and seized the islands and have taken up the task which we in such a case would have finched from performing. A less easy but infinitely more absurd course and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and at the sam to leave the islands ourselves, and the sam time to assert that we would not permit any otherwise the islands. It was, of course, inevitable that the sam time is lands. It was, of course, inevitable that the sam time is lands and there the civil government which had been established in a silven district had to be temptative the islands. It was possible at the same time of the property of the same time that the same time of the property of the same time of

MEANS MUCH TO ALL.

MEANS MUCH TO ALL.

It would be hard to say whether we owe most to our military or our civil representatives in the Philippines. The soldiers have shown splendid gallantry in the field and they have done no less admirable work in preparing the provinces for civil government. The civil authorities have shown the utmost wisdom in doing a very difficult and very important work of vast extent. It would be hard to find in modern times a better example of successful constructive statesmanship. Finally, in the Philippines, as in Cuba, the instances of wrongdoing among either our civil or military representatives have been astonishingly few and punishment has been meted out with even-handed justice to all
